To Every

To Every Thing.
Each thing.
Each one.
Everyone.
All kinds of people,
doing all kinds of things.
Different people.
The sharp guy,
the tough chick.
The fraternity man,
the sorority girl.
The long hair,
the Joe College.
The independent,
the dormie,
the commuter.
All different kinds,
doing their own thing.
Actions make people alive.
What actions?
Any actions.
No matter what you do,
with whom,
or in what way,
doing is being,
and being is living.
A U of E there's a lot of living.
A lot of people,
doing things—
lots of things.
Studying, learning,
playing, thinking.
Teaching, administering, counseling,
or maintaining.
Lots of living.
But being at U of E,
makes living a little better,
and that makes things here great.

Thing . . .

. . . There Is

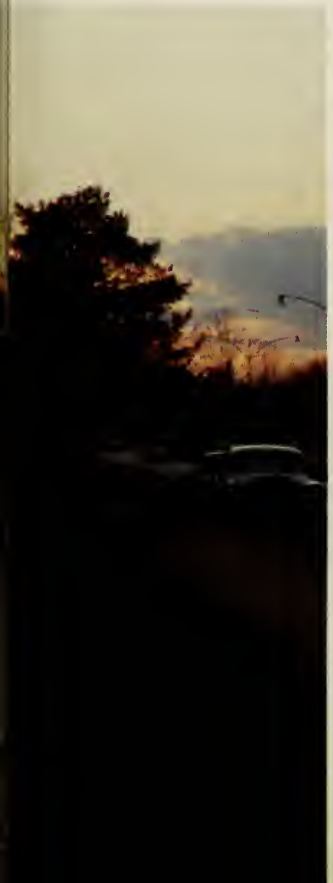
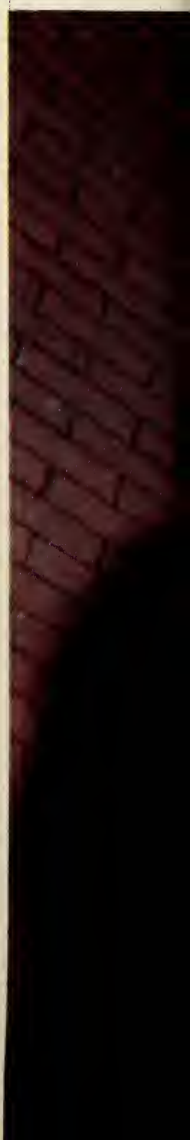
. . . There is a season.
A season for everything.
What is a season?
A time of year?
Or maybe a time of life?
Our four years at U of E,
are perhaps a season.
Like a farmer in the planting season,
we plant our minds at U of E.
But there are other seasons at U of E.
Fall brings us back to school.
We watch the watermelon bust,
and dance on the lawn,
while the Greeks woo the frosh.
Autumn means football,
and then homecoming.
We count the days till Christmas,
and soon the snows of winter engulf us.
But suddenly, like a thief in the night,
spring steals our hearts away.
We walk in the grass
and lay in the sun,
and soon it's all over for another summer.
Some of us won't come back though.
For us the sowing is finished
and the growing season is upon us.
Now the harvest
can't be far behind.

A Season

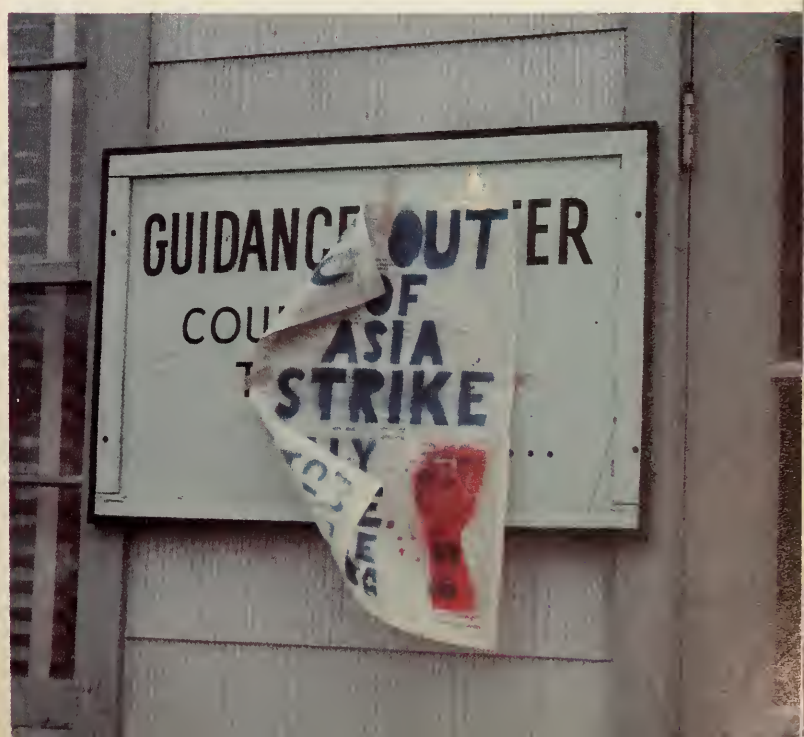


. . . And A Time For Every Purpose



Under Heaven.

. . . And a time for every purpose under heaven.
To study,
to laugh, maybe cry.
To be happy
or sad.
Friday night out with the gang,
A Saturday night date,
Sunday morning chapel.
Hit the books,
maybe for only a little while,
maybe for an all-nighter.
Write a letter home,
Live.
For four years,
U of E is home.
Always a lot to be done,
and always something to do.
Time is short,
never seems to be enough.
But somehow,
someway,
everyday,
no matter where,
there is a time for every purpose under heaven.



. . . Turn, turn, turn.
Always turning,
round and round.
Like a top.
We turn from childhood,
to being a teenager.
From grade school to high school.
Then comes the big turn—to college.
We turned to U of E.
Once here,
we turn again,
and again.
We turn to studying,
and sometimes to playing,
and all the while,
our lives are turning,
around our quest for knowledge,
at U of E.
Sometimes the turn seems monotonous.
Quarter after quarter,
we study and learn.
Then one day,
after four long years,
we make a turn into a new dimension—
the world.
And it too is round,
and we turn, turn, turn.

. . . Turn, Turn, Turn.

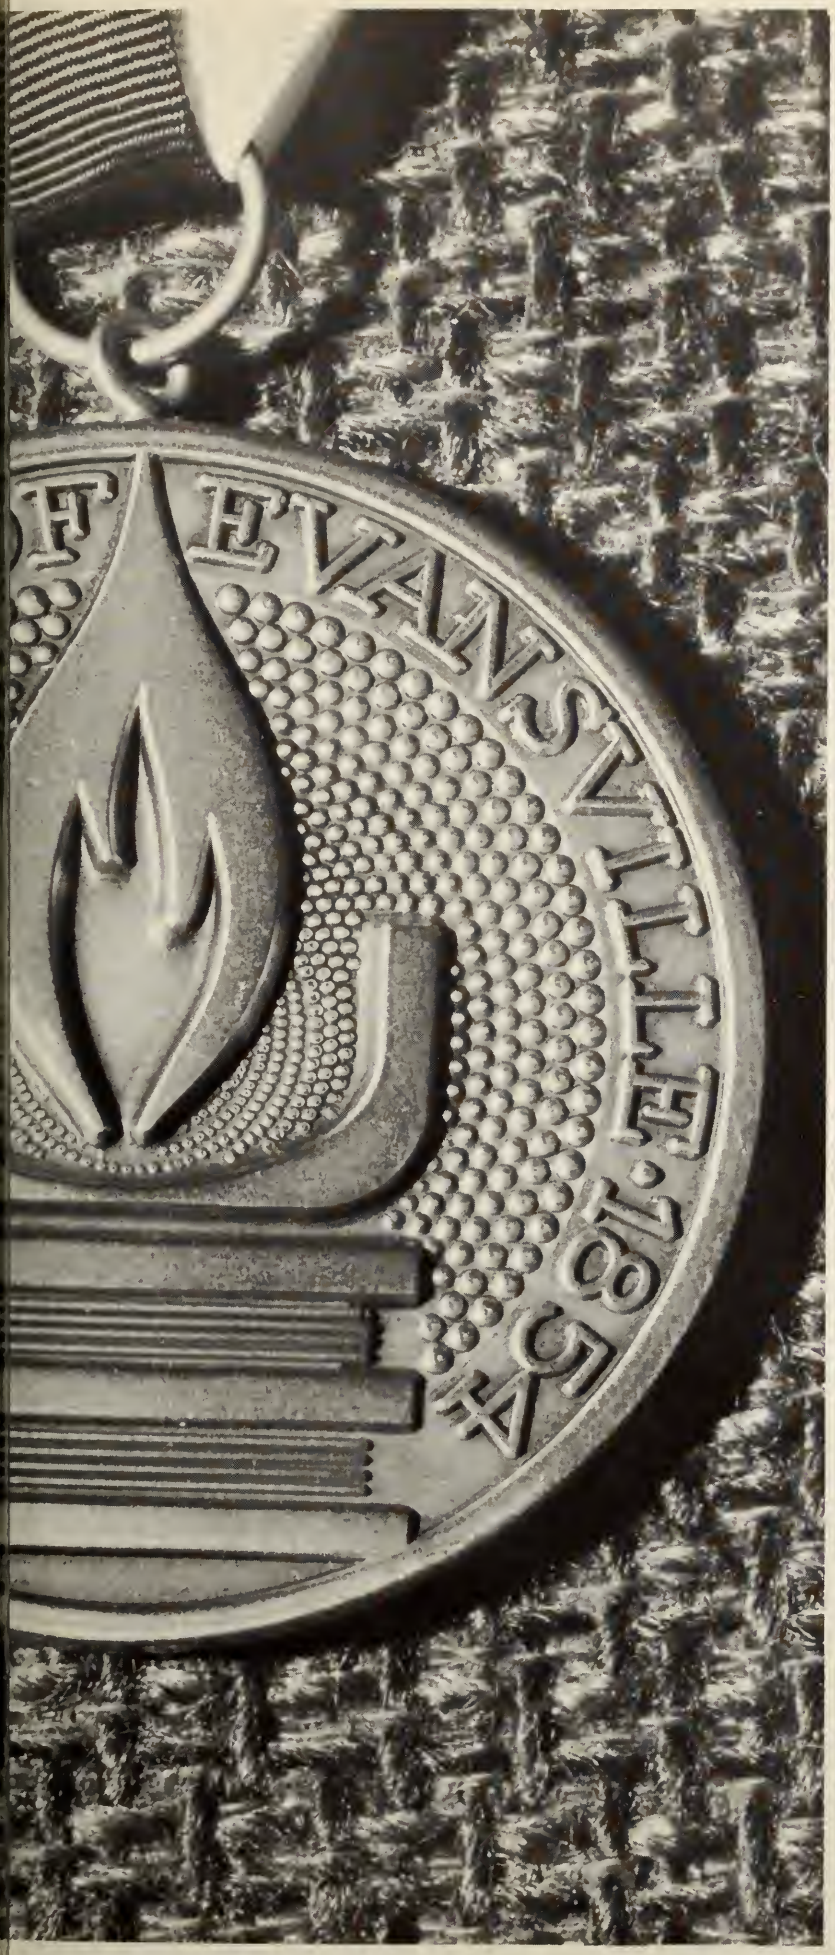
A Time You May Embrace; A Time to Refrain from Embracing

Campus Life



A Time You May Embrace;
A Time to Refrain From Embracing.
In life, as in love,
there is a time and a place
for everything.
A time to embrace close friends;
a time to embrace studies;
a time to embrace fun.
Quiet times to embrace nothing—
or everything.
A time to be sad and a time to be happy.
Always a time and a place
for everything.

At U of E
we embraced a lot of things in 1969-70.
We embraced a good football team
who had an average season,
and a similar basketball team.
For the first time there were protests—
protests of the war in Vietnam
on Moratorium days--- protests of Kent State deaths later.
We protested for open visitation—and we got it.
We began to think and care;
and some things changed.
Other things we didn't embrace.
But there's always next year.

Welcome Frosh — To The University of Evansville

Orientation Begins with

Move-in, A Picnic, Campus Chatter

That long-awaited day comes,
and off to school.
Not planning to take everything,
just the necessities.
Parents swear it won't fit
in one dorm room,
but somehow it does.
Once in,
there's a barbecue for the first meal.
The food is good,
and the cooks work hard—everybody enjoys it—
even the flies.
To acquaint the frosh with U of E, orientation begins.
Campus Chatter offers a chance to find out what U of E is like from the leaders here.

Registration is Easy as 1-2-3; 4-5-6; 7-8-9; 77-78-79 . . .

Introducing President and Mrs. Graves

President's Reception

The card came weeks ago.
Said come here at 9 a.m.,
and you may register.
I got here a little before nine,
and I'm still here.
It's getting close to noon now,
and a sandwich would taste good,
but they say this registration,
is very important.
Now let me see,
I've filled in all 174 lines,
answered all the questions,
had everything checked.
Now all I need is class cards.
'Sorry, but that class is closed.'
Back to the drawing board.
There must be an easier way.
I hear that next quarter,
I can pre-register—
I suppose.

Gee, we're being received
by the president tonight.
Gotta look sharp.
I suppose all the administrators
will be there to meet us.
We'll probably have punch
and some cake or cookies—
Gee, it's my first night out in college.

Frosh Endure Another President's Convocation Cheerleaders Instill First U of E Spirit

The long line of robed people moved slowly into Carson Center
and took seats in the gym.
The President's Convocation
had begun.
As President Graves spoke
most listened attentively.
A few found something to giggle about.
Others stared blankly at the wall
or floor or ceiling.
Some took a nap as heads bobbed.
The President spoke about the University and the students
and their relationship to the world.
The cheerleaders were given a chance to teach the frosh some U of E yells.
And afterwards we felt a little more
a part of U of E.

Watermelon Bust Big Fall

One of fall's first big events,
the Watermelon Bust, offers a chance to meet—
old friends,
new people.
Check out the new frosh—
compare the newest models,
fresh out of high school.
Embarrassed at first,
they finally step into the form,
and after awhile,
Miss Watermelon Bust of 1969

Greeks in Full Swing With Rush Activities

To be or not to be—Greek—
a question we all must face.
Greek has a lot to offer—
but a lot must be given as well.
Rush—a time when everybody smiles
and is friendly,
but all the while evaluating.
The rushee must decide which way to go.
Will I get a bid? The right bid?
Then one night it happens,
and that period of pledgeship,
testing whether that person
can long endure,
begins.
Some make it,
others don't.
One thing is sure—
to make it,
you have to want it bad.

Faces of a Peaceful Moratorium

Organized protest was rare
at U of E until 1969-70.
The national moratorium
brought it to our campus.
In November we assembled on the lawn
to protest.
We talked about the war
and about racism and hatred.
We listened to speeches by many speakers.
We observed periods of silence
in honor of our war dead.
We felt something drawing us together.
It was something new at U of E,
and it felt good.
Out protests were peaceful,
unlike other campuses.
We protested, but mostly we talked
and listened and began to think.

Highlights of Broadway

U. E. Theatre: Summer '69

"Highlights of Broadway," the summer variety show, brought together drama students, music majors and other interested souls, to produce a tuneful, colorful evening of song and dance. Selections from Broadway musicals, past and present, ballads and rock, were featured. Profits from the production went to the Pearl LeCompte Drama Scholarship Fund.

"Under the Gaslight" brought melodrama back to New Harmony. First produced in the Opera House in 1867, U.E. Theatre felt it appropriate to reopen the Opera House with this play in 1969. Amidst scenes of splendor and squalor, mustached villains plotted evil deeds, and stalwart heroes and lovely heroines achieved timely rescues from curling waves and speeding locomotives.

Janis Puckett

performance
in the fall quarter production
of Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler".
Dudley Thomas directed
the play of frustration.
David McFadzean, Pam Gilbert,
Keith Langsdale, Cheryl Scammon,
John Harl and Cathy Emge
teamed with Miss Puckett
to make it an excellent theatrical experience.

U. E. Theatre:
Fall Quarter

U. E. Theatre: Winter Quarter

Love's Labour's Lost

Brought from relative obscurity by modern repertory companies, "Love's Labour's Lost" became U of E's winter quarter production. John David Lutz put his brilliant ability to work and directed what is one of Shakespeare's least famous plays. The audience seemed to be caught up in the action which took place in the King of Navarre's Park. Though not a well-known play, U of E's drama department turned it into a sterling performance.

U. E. Theatre: Spring Quarter

Glass Menagerie

Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie" was U of E drama department's first spring production. Douglas Hubbell displayed his directing talents in the modern tragedy. Tom Shinnaman, Pam Gilbert, Suzan Davis and Bob Jeffers combined to make the performance a memorable one.

Director Dudley Thomas guided the cast of "Flea" through a jet-paced comic masterpiece by French author Georges Feydeau. Highlights were Dave McFadzean's dual roles as businessman and half-witted hotel employee, a disappearing bedroom on a turntable, and zesty performances by all in this gamey bedroom farce.

A Flea in Her Ear

Even Noah's Revenge Didn't Dampen Homeco

Halloween's witchery wrought the imprint of devilment during Homecoming's regaling weekend of spoof. Butler's jaunty bulldog suffered supreme embarrassment in the eyes of Hughes' clever inhabitants whose "One Little Step" captured first place in Men's Unlimited. Hale's aqua-pigmented practioner of the black—arts held careful gaze upon the symbol of Hinkle to take first place in Limited voting. The entangled spider of Alpha Omicron Pi drew plaudits as did Tau Kappa Epsilon's floral timepiece.

ming Spirit As The Aces Sank Butler In The Mud

That blustery day atop the lonely plains of combat on Reitz Hill, They sloshed through the goo and slime, but the Aces summoned up murder instinct from some distant football bloodline, outsplashing from Tony Hinkle's diligent men from Butlerland, 14-9. Lanky Craig Blackford, The Golden Arm and the Cardboard Knees, filled space with 18 perfect bullets including an 8-yard strike which nestles softly in Ike Mefford's arms for a touchdown. Mudhen Doug Atherton later jogged 15 yards for TD which sounded the Bulldog death-knell and sent the Purple partisans home contented. Jim Byers' persevering attackers were not without their backing on that bone-cold Autumn day. Cheerleaders Billy Alden and Ginny Merrell were among those who lent vocal support as the Purples slugged it out on their way to a tie for the ICC title.

Homecoming Queen Linda Hunteman

Homecoming.
Highlight of fall quarter.
The time when the prettiest of pretty,
is chosen to reign over activities as queen.
1969 candidates were no exception,
to the tradition of beauty.
Joli Treat, Teana Newman,
Anita Kimes, Linda Hunteman, Sally Gorman, Emily Garber,
and Sandy Boley,
composed the royal court.
When all was said and done,
Miss Hunteman polled the most votes,
and wore the crown.

Reigned Over Weekend Festivities

Fall, football season, and Friday. This was election day for Football Homecoming Queen. Campaigns were over, tension high and fingers crossed. That night the lucky one was named at a gala affair which featured five girls surprisingly not candidates themselves. They provided entertainment in the true sense of the word while the tension mounted. Cheerleader Billie Alden pleased the throng with a vibrant dance routine; the trio of Judy Brewster, her sister Jeannette and Anita Fisher set the audience swaying to folk rock numbers; and Pat Grisham received a thundering reception for her specialty—singing. Unpaid volunteers, the girls set the audience in motion, they caused laughter, tears and feet to tap. They were indeed Ed McMahonish in priming and turning the audience for the highlight of the evening-the crowning of Linda Hunteman.

The Magic Of Jose Feliciano

Turned on The Homecoming Crowd

They led him to his chair,
and handed him his guitar.
Then this blind man cast
his magic over the audience.
Feliciano's magic made
Homecoming something special.
Perhaps it takes a blind man
to see the world as it is.

His fingers danced on strings
like spring rain on roses.
He created his own light
and shared it with all.
For a time many persons
became one beneath his magic.
Feliciano did more than entertain,
He brightened life with music.

The Music, The Friends, The

Soul—All Came Together At The Union

Although respectful of U of E's 50-year celebration, the Union did not present an image of being dated, old-fashioned, or restrained. If anything, the Union turn, turn, turned the clock ahead and pulsed with the Peppermint Rainbow and The Teardrops and the sounds of the '70s.

The Wooden Indian, minus Princess Hopeskaw, continued as home to commuters and Union sponsored events like the Union Birthday Party, the Casino Party and the Ice Carving Contest kept the word "Student" in the title Student Union Building.

Such characters as

The University celebrated its past by looking ahead to the next decade. The governor, trustees, and friends of the school convened for a gala celebration breakfast and heard President Graves reveal a dramatic $40 million educational blueprint for the U of E in the 70s. The plans include a cluster college in Newburgh, an academic mall, a college of arts and sciences buildings, and a learning center. The magnitude of the plans and the present growth of the University mirror the progress of the school's fifty years in Evansville. The school came to Evansville through the efforts of concerned citizens, and in this spirit the academic community again responded favorably to the school by accepting the plan. Officials claim the plan, which reflects a trend toward uniqueness, will save the University from the stagnant existence of many other small private institutions. The plan with its anniversary timing was also apparently a defensive measure to insure U of E's position as number one in the city—a real goal because of west side competition—ISUE.

Students Support Guest Visitation

Our Guiding Light?

President Wallace B. Graves was burning the midnight oil early today after a busy night talking to students about the heated guest visitation policy.

Future Action Delayed For Verdict

"Drastic action must be taken if the answer is 'no' on the 21st (March)," was the call Friday morning from a gathering of the men of Hughes Hall.

The men had gathered in the TV lounge of the dorm following a special mass meeting of students in the girl's dorms parking lot. A meeting had been planned in the lounge at 11 p.m. at which time SGA officers would explain the situation with the proposal now before President Wallace B. Graves requesting open visitation rights for U of E residence halls. However, the earlier all-campus meeting accomplished that purpose Warner said.

However, the men met unofficially to discuss the issue. Warner was called on to speak and he asked the men to continue to support SGA in its attempt to settle the issue. He pointed out that "At this time I cannot speak for SGA until we meet and form a plan of action."

Some of the men made various proposals. including picketting campus buildings, marches, demonstrations, letter writing, telephone calls, and others.

DePauw Plan

Then one student suggested that dorm residents here follow the same plan that students did at DePauw University. It was explained that a similar proposal was made at DePauw in the issue of open visitation and was denied by the administration. Residents of campus. housing then seceeded from the University and declared open visitation. Apparently the plan was never bucked by the administration there and the policy is still in effect.

This proposal received almost unanimous approval of those in attendance. Warner commented that, "All I ask is that you support SGA until March 21. After that if it fails, you are open to try whatever seems necessary."

No actual consideration was given to the feasability of such a move at U of E and it was noted that a move like this would require serious consideration and study before action is taken.

The talk then turned to what students should do about the situation in the meantime. The mention of picketting and marching received only partial support from the group. The proposal receiving the most support was one which called for the writing of letters to trustees informing them of student support of the matter and asking them to vote affirmatively on the issue when it comes before them at the March 21 meeting.

One student noted that the letters "should be factual and rational, explaining the student reasoning behind the proposal and other information the student feels is necessary." This too received nods of approval from most in the room.

The group then began to drift away or break into smaller groups to discuss the issue. Some students expressed fear that "after tonight nothing more will be done." Others felt that action was eminent, "one way or the other."

In general most agree that some action will be taken, however, many fear the answer will be "no". General agreement was also present on the need to write letters to the trustees, adboard members and administrative officals.

The mood of the meeting started in a rather hostile manner, but as frank discussion took place, it settled to one of hope for the future, but tinged with some fear of defeat.

Talk then turned to the meeting that most of those in attendance had just returned from. "Graves said nothing," one student commented. War-

Graves Cites 'Alternatives'

Some 200 residence hall students gathered in the girls' dorm parking lot Thursday night to hear Student Government Association officers and University President Wallace B. Graves explain and answer questions concerning the controversial guest visitation policy.

The 10 p.m. meeting was called by SGA "in an attempt to clarify the policy, clear up any rumors, and receive student comments of the policy.'

Before President Graves' arrival at the meeting, SGA officers read a letter distributed to resident students Thursday by Dr. Robert Wilson which explained the policy and stated that the Vice President of Student Affairs Dr. Robert Wilson has been requested "to make immediate search for additional rooms, both general and special, in the residence halls as a short-term solution to the problem." (The full text of the letter is reprinted on page 2.)

The proposal passed by the Student Senate, and the Administrative Board allows that there be a policy of visitation in all campus approved housing on Friday nights from 7 p.m. to midnight and Sunday afternoons from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. to be adopted with each unit's approval.

President Graves arrived at the meeting shortly after 11 p.m. escorted by a campus security officer. He began his appearance before the students on a lighthearted note grabbing the megaphone and saying "Now Hear This.' His tone, however, changed markedly from calm to determined self defense as students fired questions at him.

Graves stated that the school should do more homework on the policy and more useful alternatives sought out " 'We need more time, Graves said.' Ed Wal-

This special edition of the University Crescent compiled early this morning was published by staff members as a service to the academic community to inform and comment on the present student-administrative controversy over the proposed guest visitation policy.

With spring of 1970
came a thawing of the minds at U of E,
and students began to take interest
in things important to them.
The question of open visitation was turned down at first by administrators
who favored alternative,
time consuming plans.
Students at U of E
had no desire to wait
till studies could be made.
Finally open protest seemed the only answer,
and as students marched,
President Graves appeared
out of the night
for a meeting near women's dorms.
Though some cool was blown,
U of E has guest visitation.

U of E Welcomes London Players

From London
they came to America
to perform.
The troup of 40
presented two rich dramas-
"Mother Courage and Her Children" was presented quite skillfully.
"Romeo and Juliet" provided a second night's superb entertainment.
A friendly crew,
they made friends on campus quickly.
Traveling aboard a bus
they lived out of suitcases
and ate lots of hamburgers,
but they seemed to have a good time.
Their hair was a bit longer
and their bells were a bit bigger and also longer.
They answered lots of questions
and asked a lot as well.
Some things they didn't understand and they had many doubts about the war and the race situation here—
but then again,
so do we.

Neu Chapel Comes Alive

with Today's Religion

Neu Chapel,
U of E's religious center,
came alive with the religion of today
in 1969-70.
Such groups as the Howard Hanger
Trio presented worship services quite different from traditional styles, but nevertheless,
meaningful and real.
Dr. Paul Grabill gave one of the year's most poignant messages
as Neu Chapel took on new meaning.

U of E Memorial Services Honor Kent State '4'

Our campus was calm
amidst national violence,
but feelings ran deep,
nevertheless,
about the war,
unrest on other campuses,
racial injustice
and other divisive issues
confronting the nation.

These feelings were expressed in memorial services
on the front lawn
for the students slain
by National Guardsmen
at Kent State University.

The services were without incident except for a dispute over whether the flag
should be flown at half-mast.

Greek Weekend

Greek Weekend,
that annual time,
when the frats and sororities
combine forces
to make for a fun time.
Games and contests
determine who can eat pie fastest,
run sack races best,
ride trikes fastest
and have the all-around best time.
It's a time when being Greek is especially fun.
One young man who won the pie-eating contest chose a cute blonde for further entertainment.
Crazy costumes,
crazy games,
all made for a good weekend
at U of E.

Brought Fun and Games to U of E

Frosh Yvonne Short Reigns as Miss U of E

The Miss U of E pageant kicked off Spring Week this year. Six young lovelies vied for the precious title which leads to the Miss Indiana contest and perhaps to the Miss America pageant. When all was said and done, and the six had performed to the best of their ability, Yvonne Short reigned supreme.

Guess Who' Score Hit

Midway through Spring Week
U of E students gathered at the Civic Center
to hear four modern musicians
ply their art.
When it was over the Guess Who had won a place in the hearts of U of E'ers.
From the opening song
to the dying last phrase
of "American Woman,"
the shaggy-haired masters of rock
entranced the audience
with their acid beat.
Puffing on a curious-smelling cigarette,
the lead singer,
who obviously did little to dress up
for the occasion,
portrayed in song everything from the troubles of young lovers
to the problems of our society.
U of E was fortunate to have a group of such great stature.
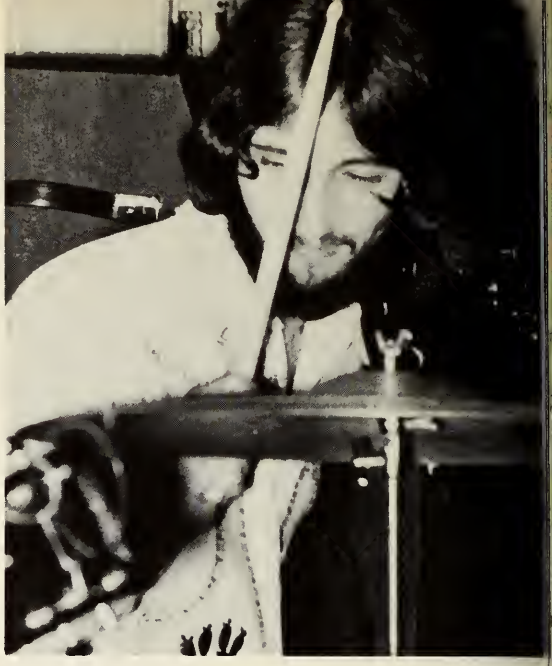
But for the first time in years,
the spring event was a financial success.



Spring Week Rocks Campus

Spring Week
at U of E,
expanded from a weekend,
proved a success.
From the Miss U of E pageant
to the Mancini concert,
events were well-attended.
The ROTC review,
for which cadets and Angels
had worked for weeks,
was marred by a group
of students who claimed to be sunbathing.
They just happened to choose
a spot in the line of march.
With tact typical of U of E's ROTC group,
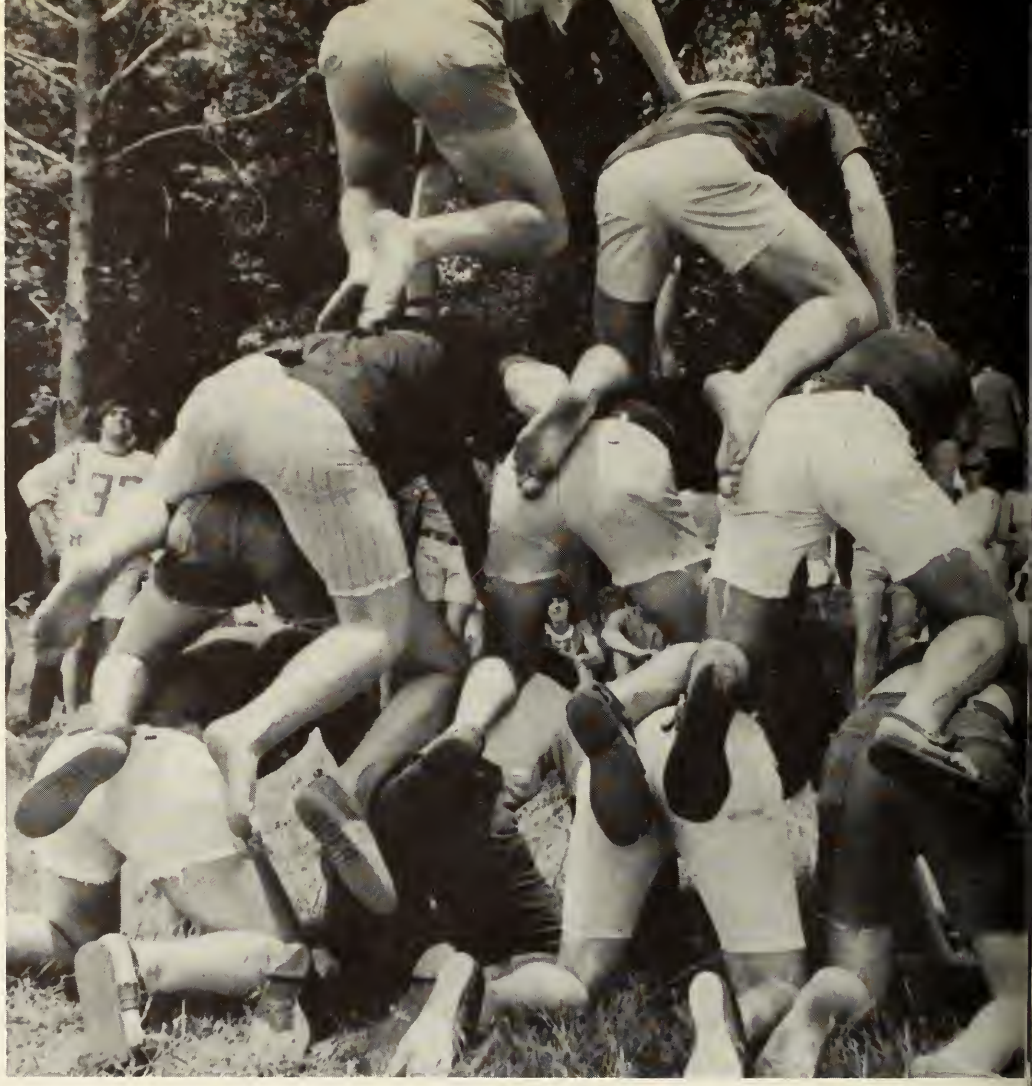
they simply changed
their line of march
and gave the sunbathers nothing
to complain about.
By Friday night all was in harmony,
and the campus rocked
to the sounds of the Buckinghams
in a steamy Carson Center.
It was a good week.



Audubon Offered Fun in Sun

Classes were off
for Friday of Spring Week
and we all went to Audubon Park
in Kentucky for games, contests
and plain old summer fun.
The guys built human pyramids
while the girls had a boat race.
There was time for hiking,
or just plain relaxing
in the outdoors.
The ladies from Harper's came up with a good picnic lunch
and we all went back with a sunburn.

ΣΦΕ

ΛXA Reigned Supreme Again In the Annual 'Big 39'

For months
they practiced everyday.
Must have ridden halfway around the world.
They peddled and peddled
and then peddled some more.
Every evening
and sometimes in the morning
you could see them
riding,
riding,
riding.
And on the big day it all paid off.
The men of Lambda Chi Alpha proved their supremacy
on the bike track one more time.
From the time our Congressman started the race
to the time they were handed
the checkered flag,
there was never much doubt
who would win.
As was the case throughout the year
TKE battled the Chi's for the lead,
but Brandy's men refused to give in.
And for another year
they reign supreme.

ΠΔΕ Gridiron

Roasts Faculty and Administration

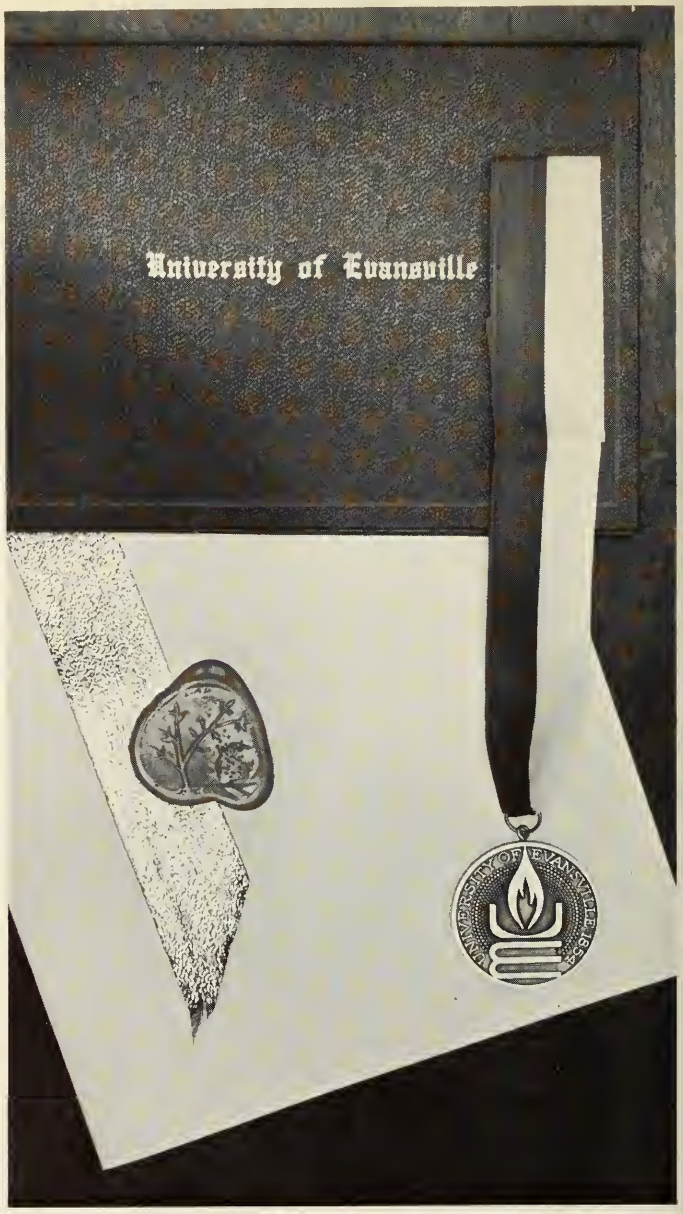
The journalism division and Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalism honorary, took time out from publishing and put on its annual Gridiron. Numerous faculty and administrative personnel were roasted. There were skits, and a slide show about the decaying Office Building, original songs and finally a long list of awards. It was fun and nobody was burned too badly.

Graduation Features Several U of E 'Firsts'

More than 800 students achieved their goals as the '70 class graduated at Roberts Stadium.

Standing especially tall were the first four summa cum laude students - Randall Rosenblatt, Cathy Ross, Kay Roberts and Elizabeth Shetler. Mike Beeler became the first M.B.A. Nine registered nurses were first to complete the special B.A. program in this field. Larry Lancaster was the first male graduate in nursing, and four received the first associate degrees in law enforcement.

The weather, as usual, was hot for graduation day, but graduates, faculty and parents fanned through the ceremonies and were glad that the long-awaited day had come at last.



U of E Honors 50 Famous Hoosiers

Fifty men and women who have brought distinction
to Indiana through their careers
were honored by the U of E at commencement.
The University's Medal of Honor, created for the occasion,
was presented to 18 of the notables
who came from across the land
to receive well-earned citations of praise
from grateful residents of the state
in which they were born or worked.

The honorees were feted
at lunch in the Great Hall,
presented their medals
at commencement time,
then given an opportunity to chat and relax at a reception
in the president's Home.
The illustrious 50 are these persons:

Louis T. Benezet, university administrator
C. Curry Bohm, artist
Frank Borman, astronaut
Robert L. Brokenburr, lawyer, civil rights leader

Year in Review

It was a year of change. People changed.
They turned to long hair and beards and bells.
They began to talk about things—things that really matter;
like love and hate and war and pollution.
Not many listened,
so we talked louder and then shouted
and then we began to march and sit in and still we wonder if they listened
as we cried, "We give a damn!
We care about our fellow man!"
People changed everywhere and some began to think.
Some died, some were hurt
but most of all some were heard.
We think about that year when we became aware.
It all seems near normal now.
Fall registration was again a bore.
The frosh were typically green
but maybe just a little bit more sophisticated than we were four years ago.
Football gave us something to do—
travel across town on Saturday and play in the mud.
We had homecoming, and it rained,
great wet drops for hours and our displays faded
and ran—but Linda Hunteman
brightened our day as queen,
and Feliciano wowed the masses.
The moratorium gave us a chance to protest—
the war, and hate and killing.
The quarter raced on.
Dr. Cameron got his walking papers—supposedly for being obscene.
Soon it was home for Thanksgiving then back for four days of finals before a welcomed break.
Christmas was home and family.
After the New Year's celebration,
back we came to settle down for the long grind.
It snowed a lot—the most snow
Evansville has ever had in a winter;
and it was cold.
The Crescent sparked a discussion about the "Bluster College."
It was a funny year for basketball.
We beat Purdue and Kentucky Weslyan
and Indiana State and Michigan
but lost the ICC conference.
Jane Snyder broke the independent stronghold
and was crowned basketball queen, while Bob Clayton was most popular unattached male on campus.
It was a short quarter.
Soon finals were over and we looked to Florida.
A few days back for classes and it was Easter.
Spring quarter didn't offer much spring for awhile.
Finally we woke up one morning
and it was spring—the awakening.
Our campus blossomed forth—
with students shaking off the wraps of apathy
and requesting—demanding—open visitation.
We protested again
and met with President Graves late in the night.
U of E has open visitation now—if only on a trial basis.
SGA almost wasn't
after disputes threatened to halt elections.
We observed Earth Day and decided—
it is time to stop pollution.
We protested a new war movement in Cambodia
and remembered our brothers shot down at Kent State.
The weather grew warmer and warmer
and along came graduation.
And now it's all over—or has it just begun?

A Time To Plant, A Time To Reap.

Academics

A time to plant,
A time to reap.
Learning knows no season
and can blossom with each theory planted,
Book read or experience known.
Our minds are like struggling saplings
bending, twisting, striving for the light—truth.
Our timber is the desire to match wits
with the sky, to spread, climb, grow and know.
We are constantly reaping the fruits of each thought.
We will never be cultivated, but always cultivate.
This perennial phenomenon is Academics.
It is a time for planting new ideas
and a time for reaping success.

Academically, U of E gained new prestige with graduate degrees in business and nursing. Political and computer science departments were announced. A two-year police program was initiated. Departments planned for future growth in the 70s. An academic blueprint set goals. Course offerings grew in step with increasing enrollment in both day and night schools. Recruitment went nationwide in search of the best. This small private institution was not dead, but just started to bud and bloom and reap its proud heritage. Competition became the key word and academically, U of E remained supreme in the city and Tri-State.

President Wallace B. Graves—Man About Campus

President Graves was a stubborn, but not unyielding schizophrenic in 1969-70. He not only battled daily administrative woes but diligently planned for the future campus. He spearheaded the Academic Blueprint, and refuted any myths about a dying private institution. His courage in supporting the school reached epidemic proportions in its impact on the community. He withstood fire from both students and trustees when he compromised a suitable plan for guest visitation. He was a mild-mannered gentleman and a determined activist wrapped handsomely in a "Botany 500." As a mirror of the institution, the President reflected an impulsive spirit of involvement.

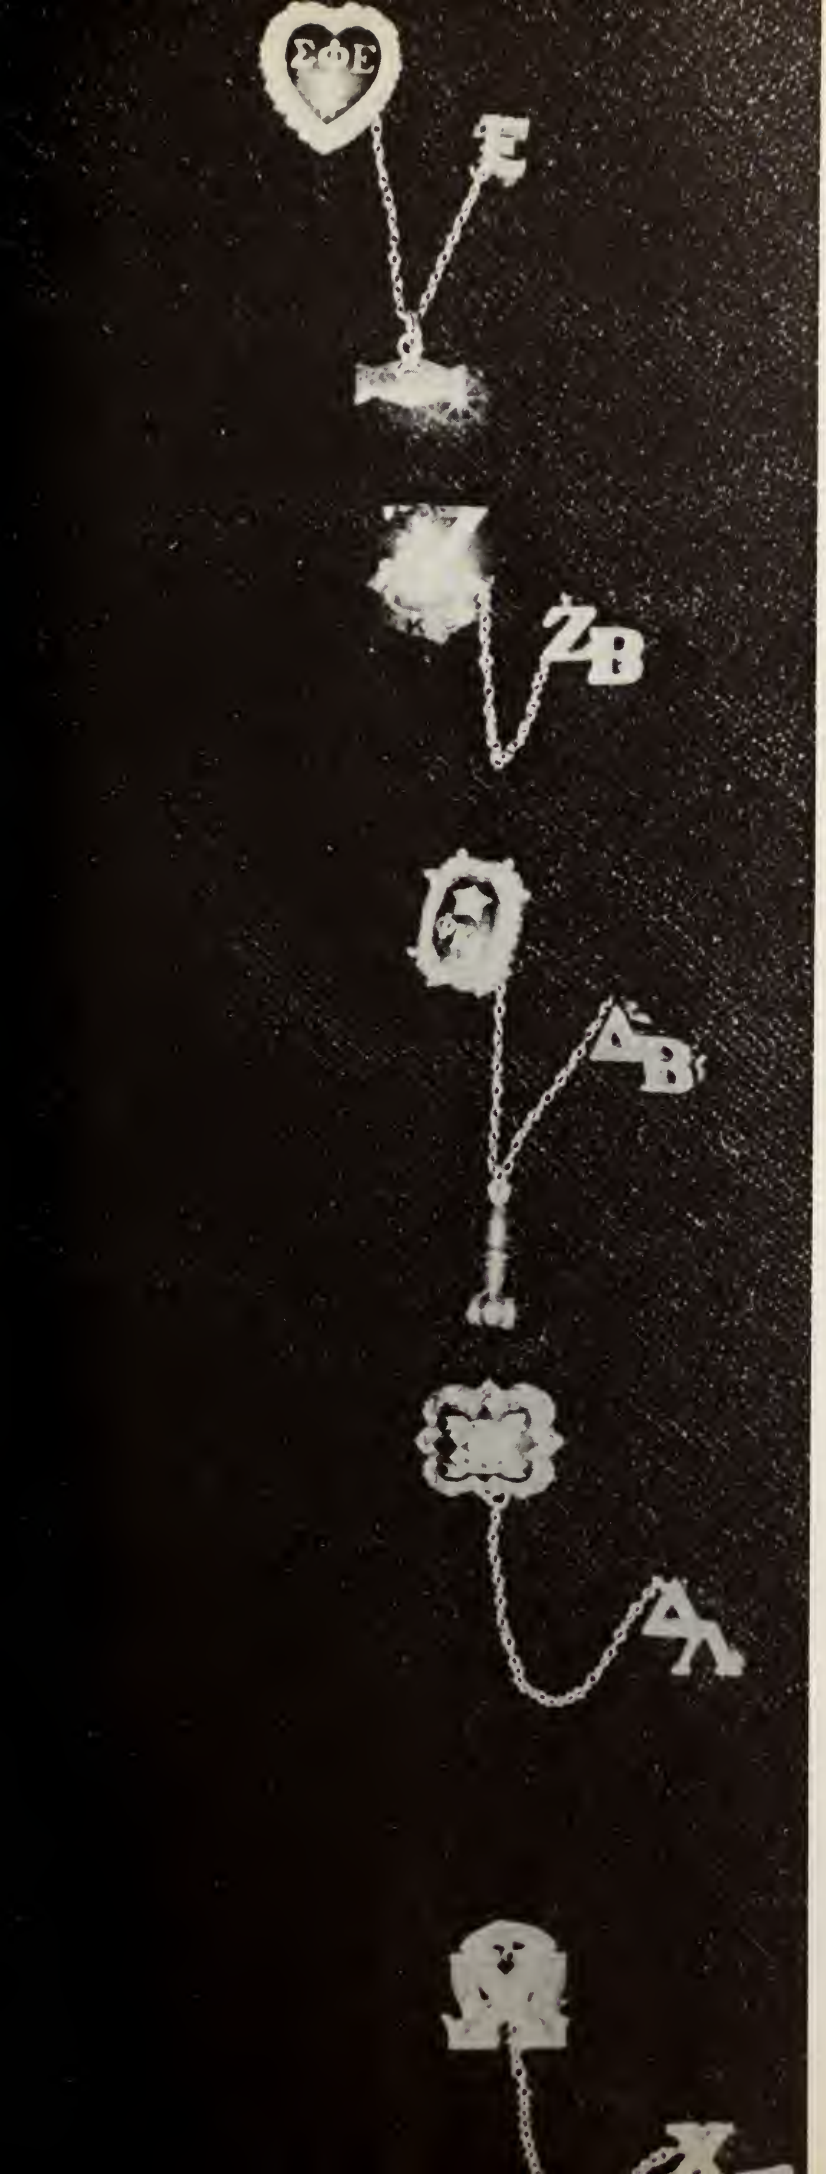
A Time To Laugh, A Time To Weep.

Greeks



A time to laugh,
A time to weep.
Weeping or laughing, is best done with a friend.
The Greek life provides these friends.
The brotherhood and closeness of brothers and sisters,
along with the common bond of all Greeks,
makes this way of campus life unique.
Working together for charity,
both on campus and in the community,
the Greeks are an asset to both.
Always working; working,
to the ultimate goal—education.

At U of E,
as on almost any college campus,
the Greeks play an important role.
Some campus leaders rise from the ranks of frats and sororities. U of E boasts six frats, and four sororities, from which SGA presidents, class officers, leading athletes and others have come.
Working for their individual groups,
or for the Greek life in general,
they all strive to make U of E great.

AOΠ

Symbol of sisterhood and achievement at U of E.
Three sisters were named frat sweethearts
for 1969-70.
A red rose the symbol of AOII means hard work for chosen girls-girls chosen to be AOII's.
But all is not work.
As sisters depend on and help
each other-in the name of womanhood.
Parties, dances, ballgames-fun;
and the AOII s are part of it allan integral part.

In 1969-70 Kappa Alpha Psi appeared to some students for the first time. A big pledge class swelled the ranks, to several times the previous membership. Uniquely different in many ways, but sharing a common Greek brotherhood, Kappa put it together in '70 and came out near the top. The future brightens for this group of young black men as campus respect grows. The new actives' hair is growing now, just like enthusiasm and pride, As Kappa Alpha Psi takes its rightful place in the mainstream at U of E.

Right from the start, with the Watermelon Bust,
through the whole year, the men of Lambda Chi Alpha,
working together,
sharing the brotherhood of their fraternity,
strive to be the best.
Cheering together at football games,
having a kegger, a bull session,
or building a winning Homecoming display,
the brothers work for U of E
and Lambda Chi Alpha.
Work, play, study, help each other,
and their school,
all a part of Greek brotherhood.

ΣΑΕ

The Lion of Sigma Alpha Epsilon proudly roars, as his brothers work to build their fraternity.
Though small in numbers, SAE is growing,
as new pledge classes increase.
Also growing is pride-
pride in their fraternity and their school.
Adoption of new ideas and principles,
a risky step to any Greek organization,
has served to strengthen the brotherhood.
In 1969-70 SAE grew,
but it seems only the beginning,
as the brothers work and play-
together.
Growing and changing for SAE and U of E.

The men of Sigma Phi Epsilon passed through their red door for the last time
as a costly fire sent them into the dorms.
Promises of a new house, bigger and better than before,
make the future bright for the brothers.
Again freshmen will writhe to the beat sound,
look over the new crop,
at the men of the heart's annual A-go-go.
Working together,
promoting their fraternity and their school.
The pride and brotherhood, of being Greek,
Go hand in hand with Sigma Phi Epsilon.

From their stately old house,
the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon
carry on the proud tradition of their fraternity.
Promoting enthusiasm with their bell and truck,
staging lawn parties,
entertaining orphans.
All a part of being Teke,
and all a part of being Greek at U of E.
The fraters work for their school
and for their community,
and in the process manage to have a great time,
as they strive for the all important—an education.

In spirit,

Fraternity Sweethearts

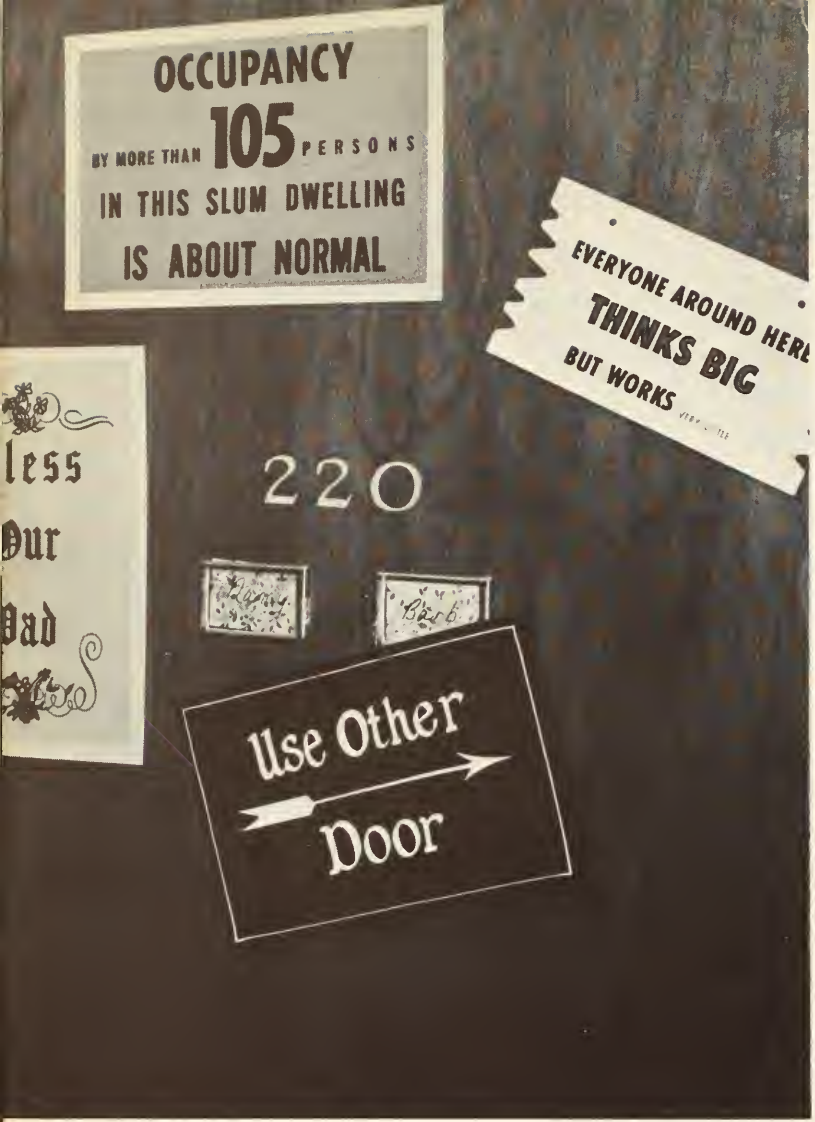
Most guys have a sweetheart. Put together a group of guys, like a fraternity, and you have a group of sweethearts. But in each group, one or two girls seem to stand out, working just a little harder, and trying just a little more, and finding a little warmer place in the guys hearts. This one girl becomes sweetheart of the frat. Susie Essig is the star that shines for men of Lambda Chi Alpha. With the men of Kappa Alpha Psi, it's Janeen Willis. Marty Carrington works hard for Sigma Phi Epsilon. Jeannie Stewart Allen helps ring the Teke bell. Sigma Alpha Epsilon's lion roars loudest for Linda Crafton. And Marcia Owen carries highest the colors of Phi Kappa Tau.

A Time To Rend, A Time To Sow.

Residences

A time to rend,
A time to sow.
College comes at a time in life,
When old things are cast off,
and new seeds of the future are sown.
Mom and Dad are left behind,
to hold a warm spot in our hearts.
We go to begin what shall become our own lives.
Like the new spring flower,
we poke our heads into the big world and look about.
What we see influences our entire life.
And as we start to college and are placed in dorms,
we meet the people who are to have a hand in our future.
Together with our fellow dormies we take our first steps.

Dorm life at U of E, offers much to all involved.
It's a place to live, and a place to learn.
With those around us we share our happiness,
and our sorrow.
We communicate, with people like us.
We study, work, laugh and have fun—
together.
More than a mere room,
the dorm becomes an integral part of our lives.
It is here we complete the rending of our infancy,
and sow the seeds of our future.



Brentano Hall

Take a modern sparkling building,
. Add a couple hundred young women—
women who are willing to work—
and work hard—
give them a year or two to jell, then, look out,
as those girls make their home away from home,
a great place to live. U of E tried that,
a short time ago, and up came Brentano Hall.
The home of comers.
The girls of Brentano come on strong in anything.
Their standards and goals are high,
but there is little danger they will fail to reach them.
Brentano Hall girls are like that—yeah, they are.

Hale Hall

Run turkey, run.
Away they scamper, and the men of Hale Hall
score another success.
Like Bachelor of the Year-Bob Clayton.
A close-knit group of men,
making their home in the newest men's dorm—together.
More than a room to live in, Hale Hall provides a good environment for University men.
A smoky fire in the trash chute, emptied the dorm for awhile, but failed to daunt the spirit of the men.
Always out for a good time, Hale Hall men usually find it,
and somewhere in the process, they get an education.

HIGHES

Hughes Hall

Fighting for an intramural victory,
or putting together a winning Homecoming display,
or electing another Bachelor of the Year,
the men of Hughes Hall stick together.
Placed in the dorm by the housing office,
unknown to each other in most cases,
the men of Hughes form lasting friendships.
They play, laugh, study, and celebrate—
together.
A friendly card game, a party, even a bull session—
all a part of life in Hughes Hall.
Proud of their home,
the men were not satisfied with University decorating,
and demanded and received a facelifting for their dorm.
Typical of Hughes Hall men—
They like to be number one.

Moore Hall

They always say, a home is what you make it.
That's a basic truism baby,
and the girls of Moore Hall are really making it.
In intramurals, they're great.
When it comes to queens,
you can count on Moore Hall to get it together.
Whether it's building a homecoming display,
or working for their candidate, or simply playing,
Moore Hall girls come out—
on top.
They have a way of getting things done,
and baby, they do it well.
These girls have made their home what it is—
and anyone can tell you, Moore Hall is tops.

New Unit

Everything, they say,
has a name.
Everything that is, except New Unit.
Some day, someone,
will come along and donate a gob of money,
and presto,
New Unit will have a name.
Until then, the lack of one,
seems to make little difference
to the girls who live there.
They go right on,
working, studying, playing, for New Unit,
for themselves, and for the University.

It's a struggle to be married and still go to college.
But it can be done.
The families in the Apartments
prove it. Set up like almost any other apartment, married couples find their busy lives
filled by cooking, housekeeping, as well as studying. Up at seven,
fix breakfast, pick up a few things
around the apartment,
then it's off to classes for awhile.
Back in time to fix hubby's lunch,
run a few errands,
and make the afternoon classes.
In the evening,
after dinner,
It's time to hit the books,
and finally prepare for another day
of family life, in the University Apartments.

Harper's Dining Center

A meeting place,
to gather first thing in the morning,
half way through the day,
and again at eventide.
But most of all,
a place that nourishes the University.
Harper Dining Center,
more than just a feeding bag.
Joe Witsken and his staff,
work to make meals
more of a happening.
Events like Chinese night
add to the variety.
After the last meal,
a snack, a chat, a card game,

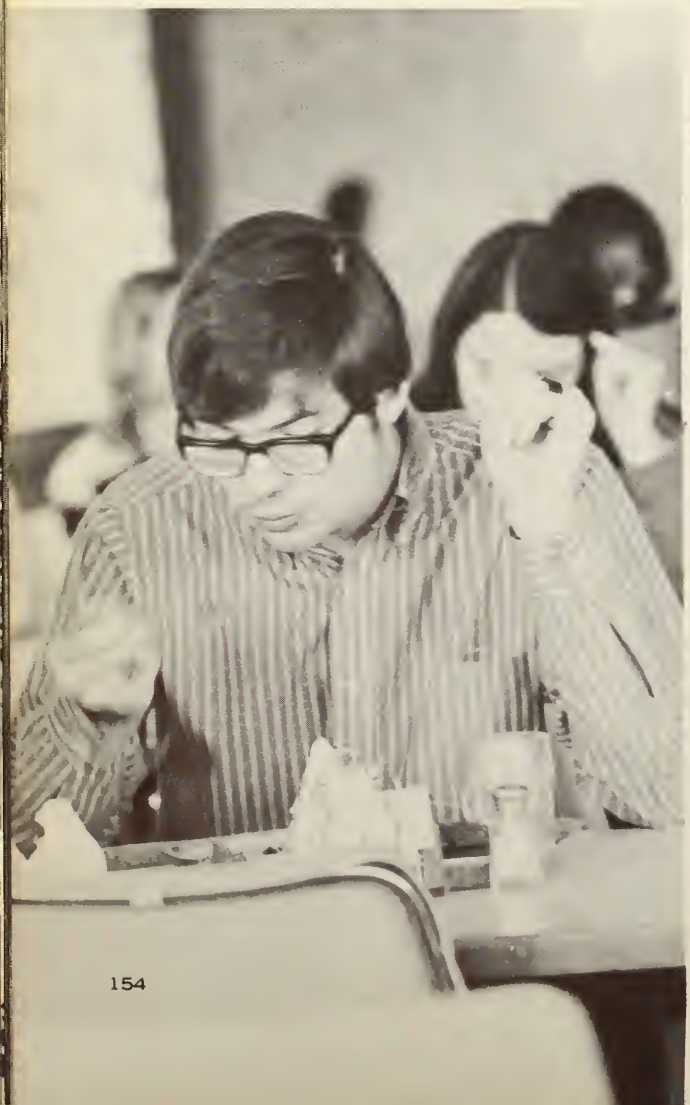
can be found at Dante's Inferno.
Harper's—more than a place to eat.



Housemothers

A Time To Cast Away Stones, A Time To Gather Stones Together.

Organizations

A time to cast away stones,
A time to gather stones together.
Man cannot always be alone.
An instinct compels him to associate.
Different viewpoints, new ideas,
all foster a broader concept; a more true solution or product. Together men can cast away the impeding stone with more confidence and strength. Together, combined, united—men may gather their spoils
in bushels, not handfuls.
An organization is successful when it can cast away the biggest stone, find another in its path and attack it without being discouraged.

Students made time for myriad organizations from chemical groups
to journalism cliques and yes, even clans of Republicans. Special meetings were planned, speakers spoke, officers chosen,
and seemingly unattainable goals attained.
So and so didn't do his part, but that special project was somehow completed.
Problems were numerous, attendance erratic,
but still the organizations lived to see new faces. Friendships were made at so-called business meetings and parliamentary procedure was scant. A bond was generated and to say "can't do" was blasphemous.

A Time to Build Up, A Time to Break Down

Sports

A time to build up; a time to break down.
To build bodies toward perfection
in order to break down foes.
Athletics play a key role at all universities—especially Evansville.
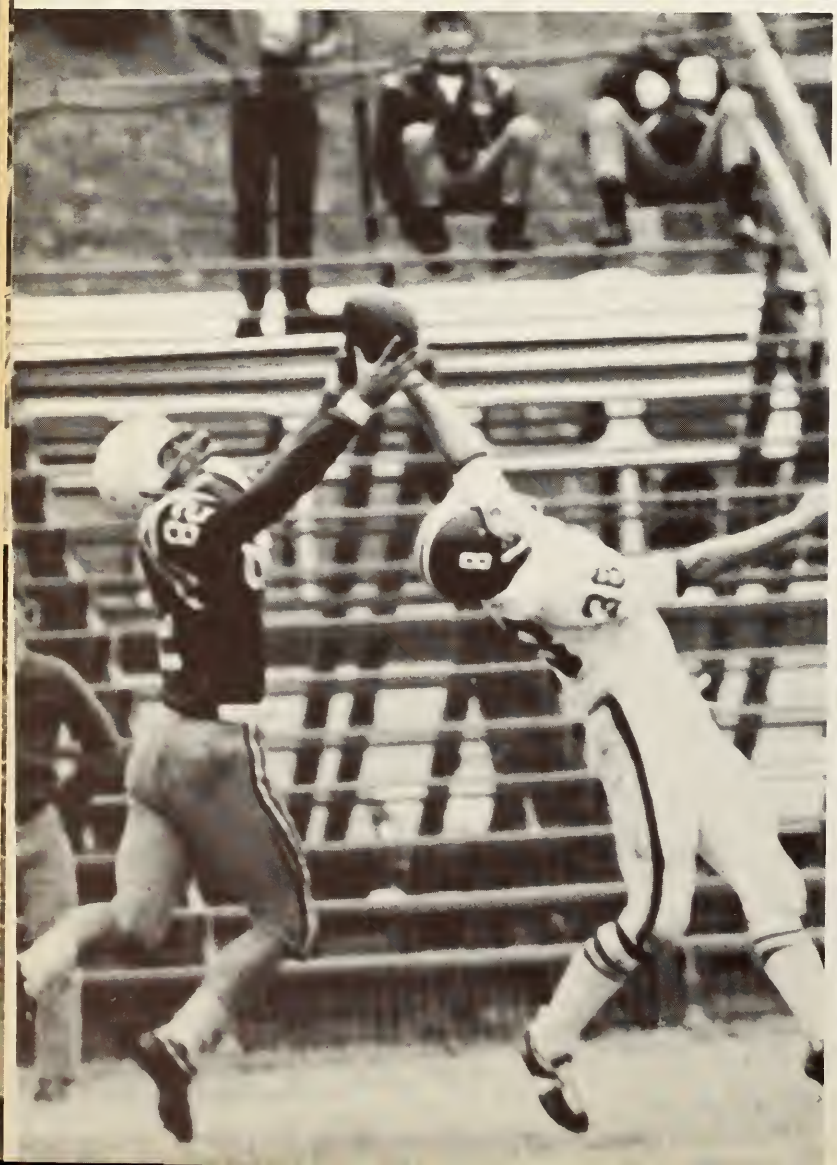
The spirit created by sports
can infest an entire campus.
Sport contests are some of only a few things
that can bond groups together.
If for no other reason,
that makes them important.

Athletics at U of E sometimes act as a drug
on the city of Evansville.
Especially basketball.
Thousands come to see the famed Aces play.
Spirit has never been an "in" thing
at U of E,
but sometimes, just sometimes,
it rears its head.
Remember DePauw?
1969-70 brought good and bad memories—
but nevertheless, memories.



Aces Enjoy

Confines Of ICC

They also serve who stand at the white barrier
which divides total war and a fretful peace.
Jim Byers, concerned eyes
watching padded jousting,
has felt the exhilaration
of the 100-yard war but now wears the uneasy mantle of tutor in youth's trial by ordeal.

UE Harriers Run For Purple And White Like Champions

Churning, moving legs.
Just aim your body
for some faraway distance.
And run till you get there.
That's cross country.

Three miles is a long way.
Most can't walk it, but the harriers must run it.

Run over logs, around trees.
Jump ditches and outrun dogs.
It's all a part of running cross country for the Aces.

Like most spring sports
it went on unnoticed except to the few who ran it.
They were aware of it.

Lodato Best In Country, Tankmen ICC Runners-up

A close-knit group.
Together every day.
each with his own personal goals,
but sharing a common bond;
the desire to make their team,
and their school
number one.
Many hours of labor,
sweat, try harder, do it over.
The swim team at U of E,
working together,
working as individuals.
The result—
four places in the NCAA finals.
Glen Phillips does his thing freestyle,
while Charlie Jones finds his mark
with the breast stroke.
Bob Lodato, the nation's best,
is at home on his back.
Ron Huff flies,
right off the board, through the air, and splash.

Medley Relay Team Takes National Honors

Sixty laps
the length of the pool
at Carson Center.
More than most students
swim in a year.
But that's only one day's practice
for U of E swimmers.
Hard work,
long hours of practice,
though it wasn't their best season,
the payoff came in the NCAA finals
as U of E swimmers
copped four places.
Our own Bob Lodato
is the best backstroker
in the entire country
in small colleges.

Their mercurial style left enemy brows lined and ridged though the Aces were forced to bear the heart-aches
of a spasmodic campaign.
But not even disillusionment
of defeat could squelch the deep-running pride
which gilded the losses and enhanced the victories.

Enemy arrows struck home fourteen times but not before "The Bull, The Whale
and the Holland Milkman"
wrote their names in golden ink upon history's ledger

Agony, pain and torment
are a wrestler's burden.
Before he gives it up
they are intimate friends.

U of E's grapplers learned this.
They sweated, groaned and learned through the year.
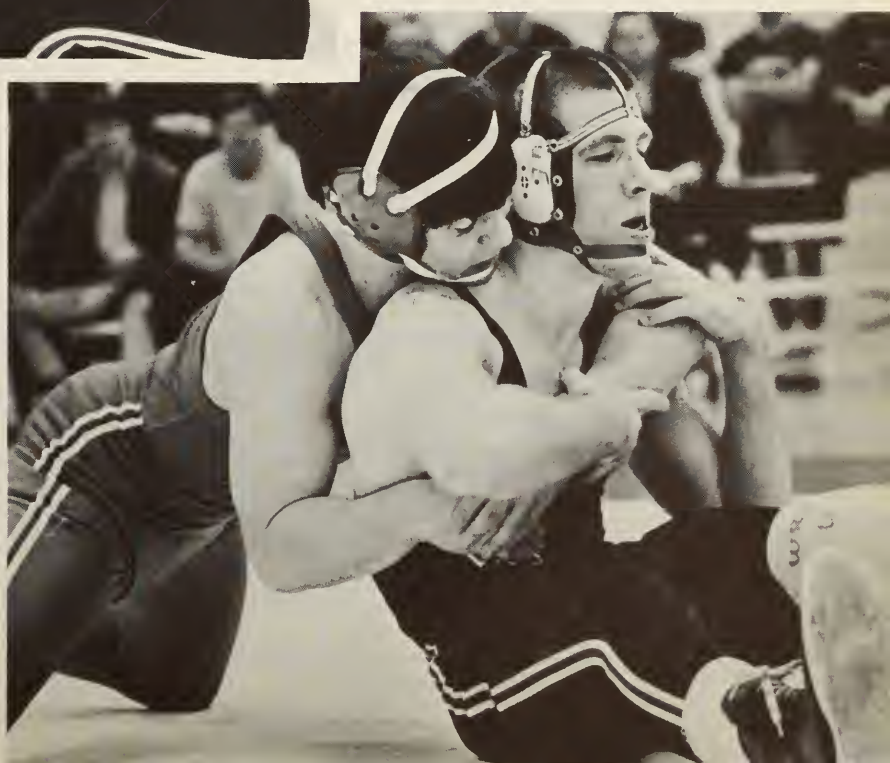
They hated it, and loved it.
They worked relatively unknown.
Thousands didn't watch them
and newspapers didn't praise them.
But they worked all the same.

Wrestling is sports purgatory.
It can make a boy a man,
and it can make a man a boy.
U of E turns out men.

U of E Grapplers Worked Before An Empty House



It was a tough season
for U of E's netters.
Their biggest and toughest opponent
was Mother Nature
who denied them numerous practice days
and sent strong winds out during five matches.
The Aces overcame
the disadvantage
and fought their way
to a third-place finish
in ICC competition.
At the ICC meet
Roger Sergesketter
earned first place
for No. 2 man in the state
It was the first time for a U of E netter
in recent memory.
Sergesketter and Jim Unversagt
combined for a nearly unbeatable twosome,
losing only two matches all year.
Don Roberts did an admirable job
at the third position
while Greg Bachert held down fourth.
Herb Ziegler battled in the number five slot,
while Don Hardin rounded it out at six.
It was a good year for U of E tennis,
and next year looks equally promising
as half the team returns
for another season.

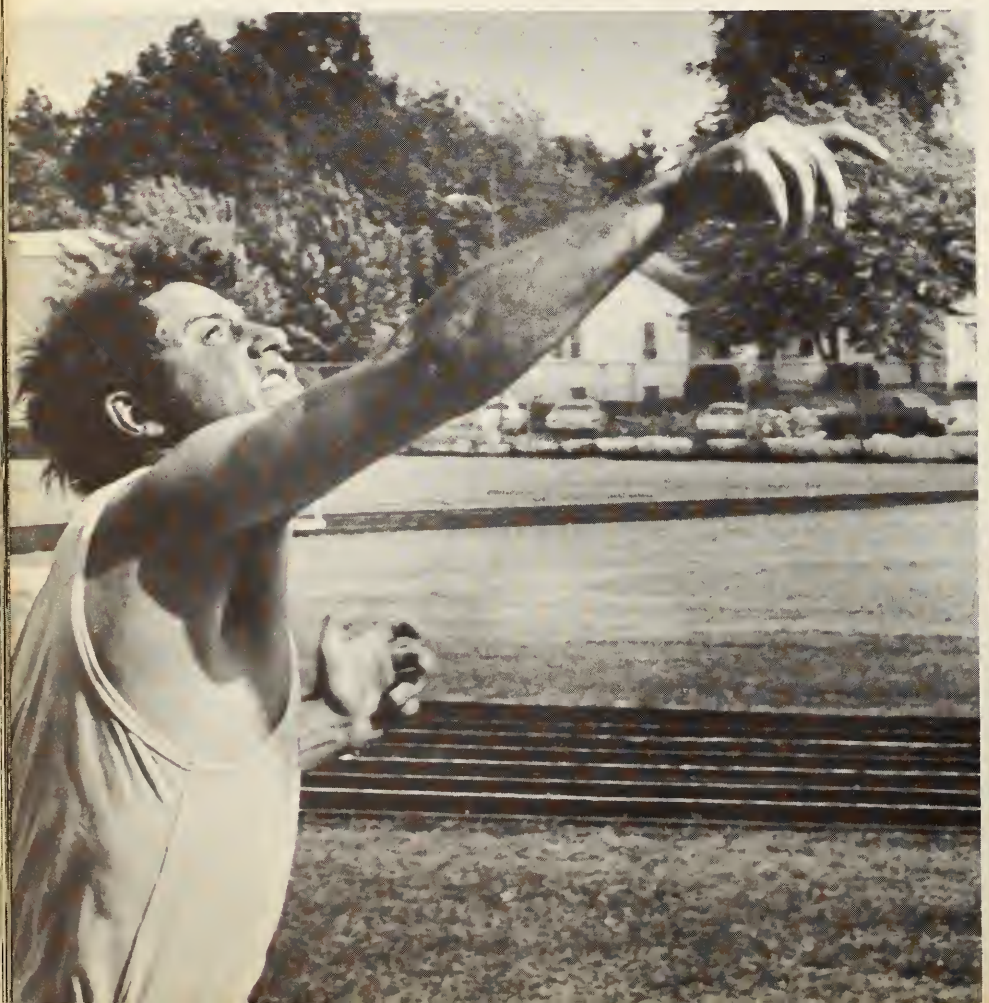
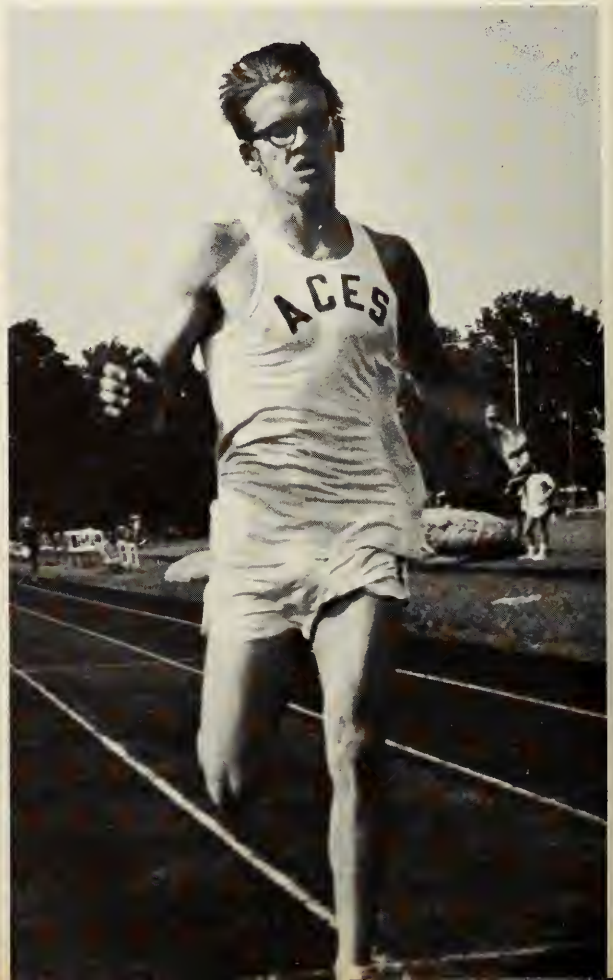
Aces Nine Struggle To 8-12 Season

Determined plunges to white sacks kept the attention of Ace's baseball head man Wayne Boultinghouse riveted on the field with pensive anticipation.
The solid thump of slick-hewn oak ramming against Mr. Doubleday's spherical invention produced U of E base knocks in machine-gun rapidity with Steve (The Whale) Welmer and Todd Rudnick depicted galloping to safety after clouts in victories over Oakland City and arch-enemy Kentucky Wesleyan.
In other veins, catcher John Haley hangs his head in expressing a mixture of physical exhaustion and the mental anguish resulting from an 8-12 record; while righthanded hurler Denny Robbins eyes the diamond proceedings with singular concentration.
The frustration of a losing campaign was somewhat relieved when sluggers Welmer, John Wellemeyer and Don Buse were justly rewarded with berths on the All-ICC squad.

Record

Cinder Aces Display Marked





Flashing spikes and flexed musculature of straining trackmen gave the Aces well-earned improvement at Carson Center's rubber-core field of combat under the guidance of Dick Schleicher. Sprinter Morris Clark drew the most significant laurels by breaking the U. of E. mark in 440-yard run competition, but others added their names to U. of E. cinder history with commendable performances. Jerry Knight slides over the cross-bar in the high jump, an event which matches the inevitability of Newtonian Law against man's insatiable dream of flight. Bob Koehl extends fully in the long jump, another specialty which pits gravity against well-drilled muscle. Dean McCane utilizes the bulky physique of the weightman to heave the 16-pound lead ball in the shot put, while Richard Poe sprints and jumps to clear the barriers in the high hurdles. Frosh Jim McClain throws the last ounce of his endurance into the stretch strides of his event, the 440.

ΛXA Edges TKE in Golf For All Sports Trophy

Bob Clayton captured honors in the IM decathalon, while Moore Hall diamond girls posted a softball victory. TKE proved tops in men's baseball. Though ΛXA's Greg Hoffman was top man, TKE proved top team in the decathalon. But on the track, ΛXA reigned supreme. In girl's competition Jean Stouffer led UEI's to victory. The golf course was the scene which sent the All-Sports trophy to ΛXA.

Only a few athletes qualify for varsity competition. The rest turn to U of E's intramural program for competitive play. Hours of practice lead some to victory, others to defeat. And in the end, the group with the most wins cops the biggest prize of all—the All-Sports trophy.

Paul Gunn discusses intramural results with women's I. M. director, Susan Smith.

Bob Gardner, men's I. M. director, rechecks the men's standings.

Tau Kappa Epsilon,
sporting a solid defense
and a flashy offense,
played the roughest,
toughest, best
I.M. football in 1969-70
and walked away with the title.
Many of fall's Saturday mornings saw blurry-eyed U of E'ers cheering on their teams
in damp, chilly weather.
The bitterness of past years
was gone,
and the rugged spirit of competition
reigned.
In football,
as in all I.M. sports,
U of E students
demonstrated their sportsmanship,
as well as ability,
in the intramural program,
which only a short time ago
nearly died,
but for Jim Voorhees,
the man of men,
who has made the I.M. program
what it is today—great.

Fulmer Sets Record; Moore, Chi's Win I. M. Swimming

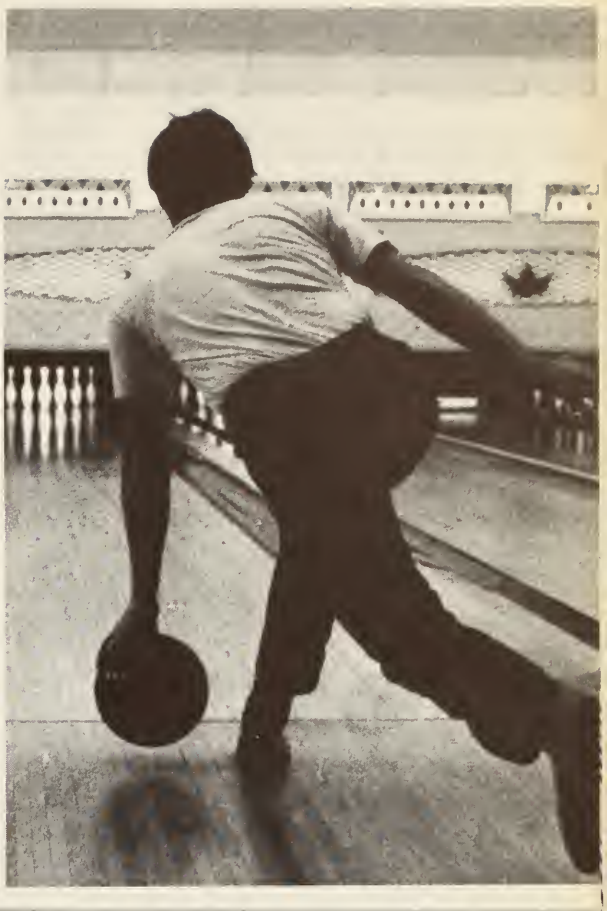
Lambda Chi proved dominant in IM swimming. Phil DeVault and Bob Gibbons led the effort.

Again in volleyball Lambda Chi came home ahead of the field. In a final bitter battle, Lambda Chi edged Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Running three miles is no easy task but Richard Fulmer did it in record time to lead Lambda Chi to a point victory over Sig Eps in Cross Country.

Cindy Medenwald and Jo Ann Fehsenfeld were stars of IM swimming as Cindy led Moore Hall to a narrow victory over Chi Omega.

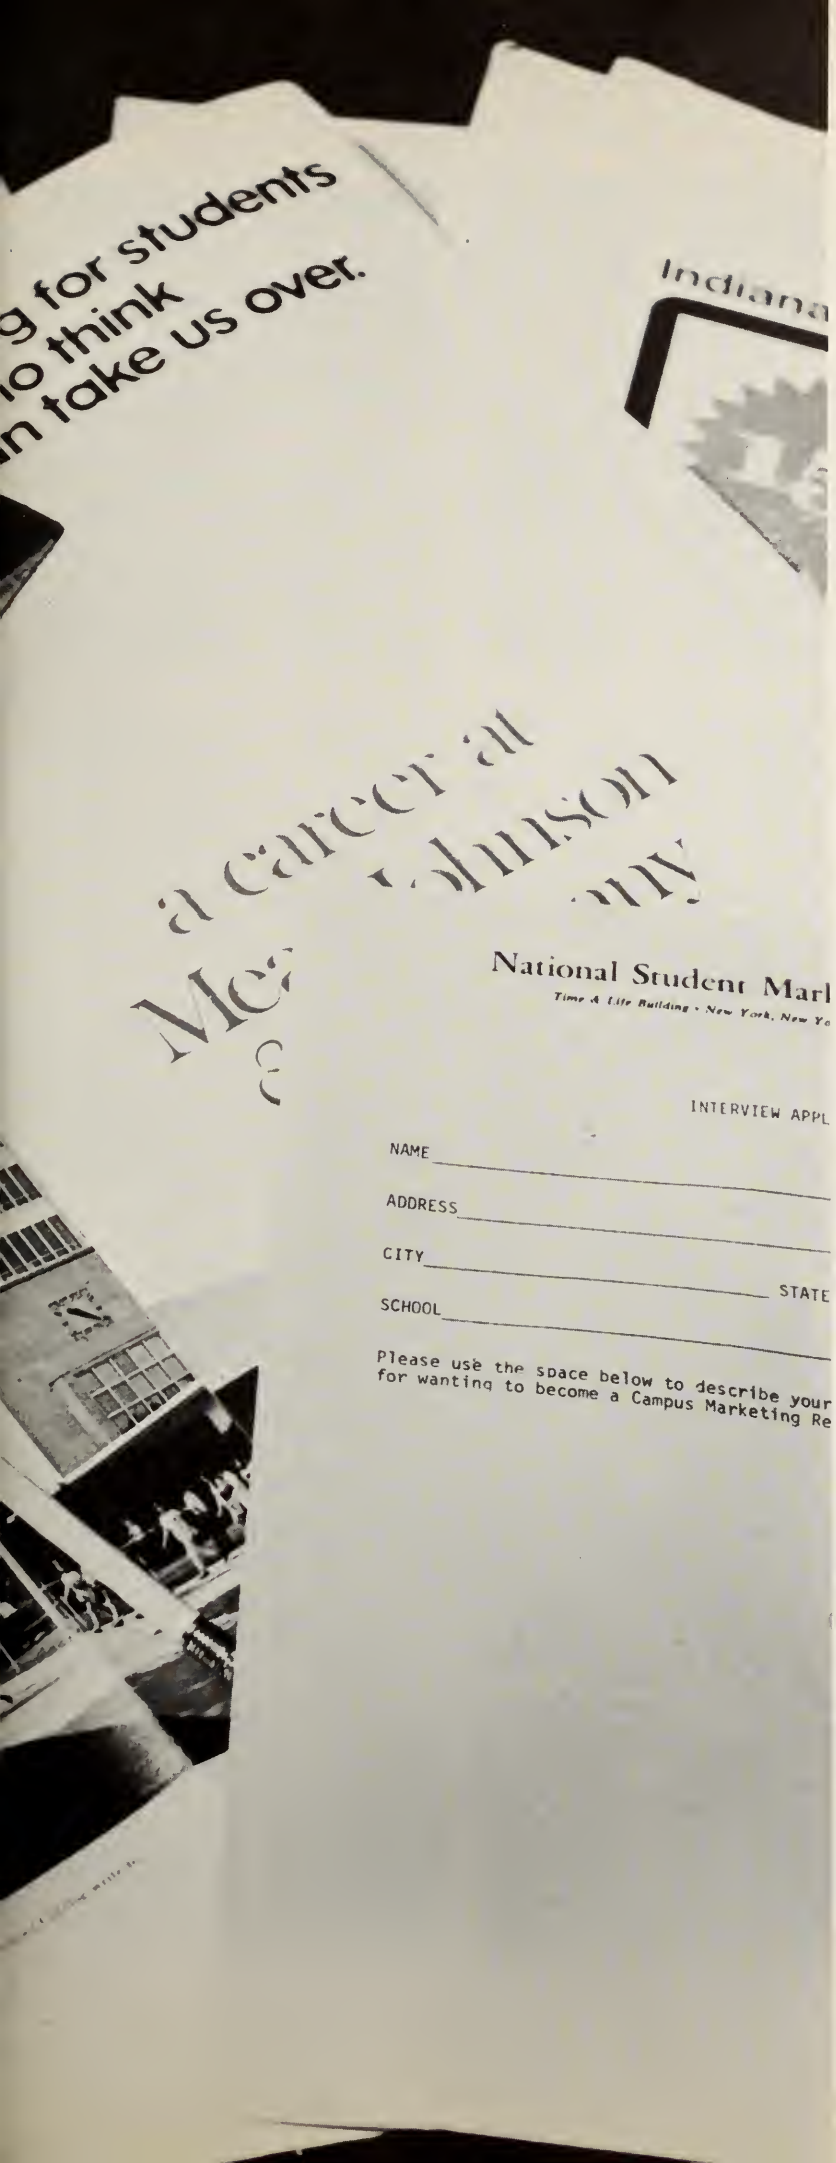
Tennis Slam Lead by Moore, ΛXA



Suzanne Lachen reigned supreme one more time in IM tennis, Chuck Sallee broke TKE tennis dominance and guided ΛΧΑ to IM tennis victory. Though undefeated in regular play, TKE fell to ΛΧΑ in tourney action, despite Greg Meiser's bucket, Chi Omega and TKE captured IM bowling. Pat Jackson and Mike Forche helped give TKE IM wrestling wins.

A Time to Gain, A Time to Lose.

Seniors



A time to gain, A time to lose.
Graduation means that sought-after goal is ours.
At last education means more than a distant, hazy word.
We have gained much in the past four years—knowledge,
it is true, but also good friends and happy times.
As we pass through the doors—
out of the college community and into the world,
we lose much in the form of friends and college life.
But the gains outweigh the loss,
as we have achieved the key to the outside—
to the world and all that's in it.
We have lost our infancy, but have gained adulthood.

After four years, and hours and hours of study,
and standing in line to register,
and standing in line at the bookstore,
and standing in line at Harper's, and standing in lines,
we wait in the last line—the graduation line.
Before us lay the unconquered world;
behind us untold good times.
We shall never again congregate in the Indian;
we shall never again flock to Dante's.
That's over now.
The sophisticated world awaits us.
Though a little scared of our gain, we enter therein.
